

MOBING APPEAL

Official Paper of Ormsby County

Thursday, January 27 1887.

Catholic Fair.

The Catholic Fair will open at the Opera House on the 10th of February, and will last three nights. The silver to be raffled at the Fair is now on exhibition at M. Cohn's, and is by all odds the most elegant ever put up for raffle at this city.

The Field of Honor.

This delightful military melodrama was played last evening to a full house by the Grismer-Davies Company. Mr. Grismer will leave this city followed by the good wishes of the theater-goers. He has never disappointed them, and by fair dealing with the public has established a reputation in Nevada that is worth money to him in the future.

Sneaking Work.

The men who are determined to boycott the Opera House are adopting a very sneaking way of doing it. Herrmann, the magician, who probably has no equal in the world, played to but a fair house, when the place ought to have been packed. Next day many who did not go expressed their regret, but say that they were deterred from the fact that it was reported about the city that he was not the genuine Herrmann, but an imposter. This report, industriously circulated for several days, injured the house at least a hundred dollars' worth.

Suicide at Tuscarora.

Miss Sarah Arnsdale, a resident of Winnemucca, committed suicide at Tuscarora on Sunday, January 23, by taking laudanum. The Silver State says: "Her betrothed, the late H. M. Henkel, to whom she was to have been married, was taken ill with pneumonia in the latter part of October and the disease proved fatal in a few days. The unexpected death of her affianced husband preyed upon her mind to such an extent that she attempted to end her troubles and existence by taking laudanum here a few weeks ago, and almost succeeded. Upon her recovery she went to Tuscarora, where her parents formerly resided, to visit friends, hopes being entertained that a change of scene and associates would have a beneficial effect upon her mind. The sequel shows, however, that her grief was insoluble, in fact, amounting to insanity, and that nothing this side of the grave could assuage it."

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.

—Miss Grace Dowdell has been taken to Reno, where it is hoped she will recover her health.

—Blumenthal & Cohn have received two cases of the Pacific Automatic Suspensers for which they are sole agents.

—D. L. Davenport, son of the famous actor of that name, and brother of Fanny Davenport, is with the Grismer-Davies Company.

—Under the head of "A Close Shave," yesterday, two articles got badly mixed up by a transposition of words, and the sense was knocked out of both.

—Yank's new hotel at Tallac was demolished by the late wind. We will bet that Yank gathers up the wreck and has the house running next Summer.

—Let it be positively understood that Schneider & Simas, the photographers opposite the Mint, are the artists selected to make the official State group for 1887.

—Ayer's Sarsaparilla, being highly concentrated, requires a smaller dose, and is more effective, dose for dose, than any other blood medicine. It is the cheapest, because the best. Quality and not quantity should be considered.

—Ayer's Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. They are pleasant to take, gentle in their operation, yet thorough, searching, and powerful in subduing disease.

—The Assembly Special Committee which visited the Insane Asylum Saturday, found everything all right except the water tank above the roof, supplied by a steam engine, when a pipe could give the same pressure supply at much less cost and practical availability.

The Homographic Chart.

The Homographic Chart for the Thirteenth Session is now out and ready for delivery. It was compiled at the APPEAL office and delayed some time in order to get the names of a few State officers not yet appointed. The postponement of the Regent election until February made it rather long to wait and so the Chart was issued without them as well as the officers of the State Prison, etc. Warren Note-ware is the authorized agent of the Chart which speaks for itself. It is compact, handy and accurate.

A Brute Punished.

I. P. W. Davis, formerly editor of the Anderson, Shasta county, Cal. Enterprise, was dragged over a rough and rocky road with a rope fastened around his neck, by the citizens of Anderson last Saturday. Ill treatment of his children had aroused great indignation.

THE IMPORTED IRISH.

What the "Gazette" has to Say
The Reno Gazette puts it in this way:

The Democratic minority in the Legislature leaves no stone unturned to antagonize the Democratic National Administration and increase the prejudice it already has to the injury of Nevada. The caucus resolution against the confirmation of General Irish showed bad taste and poor judgment. The talk about home rule has been the only political stock in trade of a lot of small politicians who had no other recommendation in the struggle for places far beyond their reach and it figures very little in General Irish's case. The fact is that a citizen of the United States is at home in every State in the Union, and as soon as he establishes himself, and the six months or a year passes which has been found necessary, for police regulations, he is as much a citizen as the oldest resident and under the Constitution of the United States he is entitled to all the rights and privileges. That is what the war was fought for. General Irish has come to stay and is able to live without office, but he is a good man for the place and will be worth a great deal to Nevada whether in public or private life. His long experience in new countries will be of value in the next ten years of rapid development here. The State of Nevada needs a few thousand just such immigrants as Mr. Irish.

About the Bankrupt Law.

Editor Enterprise, Sir:—We desire through you to call the attention of our Legislature to the present infamous bankrupt law of the State; a law that is a disgrace to those that got it up, to the Legislature that passed it, to the Governor that signed it, and also to the lawyer in this city who advertised under it to take any one through bankruptcy for the paltry sum of $50.

As a consequence many young men have injured themselves, their standing in the community by taking advantage of this law to evade the payment of their honest debts, which in many instances scarcely amounted to $500.

By thus betraying the trust and confidence reposed in them by their fellows, they have to their own great future disadvantage fixed upon themselves the indelible stain of dishonesty and dishonor.

In our judgment a law that renders bankruptcy so easy and holds forth such cheap inducements to rascality ought to be repealed at once.

While we know that all nations have had bankrupt laws, we cannot and do not recognize the moral right of any Legislative body what-soever to pass them. To illustrate: A owes B $1,000. Now, there is no power on earth that can absolve A from this obligation but B himself.

A short time since we had a United States law that absolved men from the payment of all of their just debts and liabilities. In our judgment this law conflicted most seriously with a clause in the Constitution prohibiting Congress from passing a law impairing the obligation of contracts.

As a general thing creditors are disposed to deal liberally with debtors, if debtors show an inclination to do right, and hence we think that the law of outlawry affords the debtor ample protection as against the creditor, and therefore we see no use for bankrupt laws at all.

JOHN L. GODFREY.

Virginia City, January 25, 1887.

We will remove our establishment to the brick building on the Northeast corner of C and Smith streets. North of Odd Fellows' Hall. The paper will be Democratic, honest, fearless, manly."
